

THANKS FOR JOINING THE SUDSY CHALLENGE!

By not changing your clothes for three days, you're helping to change the lives of friends just like Salin in Melbourne.

Orange Sky has supported Salin for the past three years through access to free laundry and shower services, as well as a place to connect. Salin has a job unloading shipping containers, but sometimes the days are quiet and there is no work to be done - which means his income can be unreliable.

"I live by myself and I don't have too many close friends. My family is back in my country, Afghanistan. Orange Sky helps me; I bring my washing here maybe every two weeks. After a shift, I feel good - not just because of the washing, but it's also because I talk to the team who's here and they are friendly."

With your support, we're able to provide more than 300 opportunities every week for friends - like Salin - to access free laundry, warm showers and genuine connection.
